ABOUT THIS SUBJECT

Students will be introduced to the rapidly expanding and influential field of information technology which comprises various types of technologies in computers (both hardware and software) and computer networks. It is therefore relevant to students in a wide range of disciplines: for examples, health sciences, business, engineering and technology. They will be taught the fundamental principles of computer operations, different types of input/output and storage devices, computer networks including Local and Wide area networks, information systems, Database, the Internet, the World Wide Web and HTML. Students will acquire the knowledge and practical skills in information technology and be able to apply them to their field of study.

SUBJECT INTENDED LEARNING OUTCOMES (SILOs)

Upon successful completion of this subject, you should be able to:

- 1 Analyse how a computer together with its input/output devices process and deliver data/information to user
- 2 Explain the causes for the present information/digital age by advances in technologies in computer, information systems, computer networks, Internet, and the World Wide Web.
- 3 Apply the knowledge in Internet, World Wide Web and HTML to designing and constructing a Web system.
- 4 Apply the knowledge in information technology to addressing/solving real-life problem

HURDLE REQUIREMENTS

There are a variety of assessment hurdles or conditions for passing a subject other than the overall mark. Hurdle Requirements may be built into the assessment of the learning outcomes of your subject.

There are no Hurdle Requirements for this subject

SPECIAL CONSIDERATION

If you are not able to complete an assessment task on the scheduled date due to exceptional circumstances beyond your control, you may be eligible for Special Consideration.

If the assessment task is worth 15% or more of the total assessment for this subject and you have experienced serious short term, adverse and unforeseen circumstances that substantially affect your ability to complete an assessment task to the best of your potential, you can apply for Special Consideration. To do this or find more information go to <http://www.latrobe.edu.au/special-consideration>

For Special Consideration for assessment tasks worth less than 15% of your total mark, contact your Subject Coordinator.

For Information about Special Consideration policy, go to Special Consideration Policy at <https://policies.latrobe.edu.au/document/view.php?id=205>

REQUEST AN EXTENSION OF TIME TO SUBMIT AN ASSIGNMENT TASK

Depending on the time between the submission date of an assignment and when it is marked, there may not be time to allow an extension. This will be examined in more detail during the semester.

Where it is possible, penalties apply if you submit an assessment after the due date.

If the assessment task is worth 15% or more of the total assessment for this subject and you are not able to submit it by the due date, you will need to request an extension of time to submit. To do this or find more information go to <http://www.latrobe.edu.au/students/admin/forms/request-an-extension>

For extensions of time for assessment tasks worth less than 15% of your total mark, contact your subject coordinator. Poor time management is not an acceptable reason for an extension.

For information about late submission policy, go to Assessment (Late Submission of Assessment Tasks) Policy at <https://policies.latrobe.edu.au/document/view.php?id=148&version=1>

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

“Academic integrity means being honest in academic work and taking responsibility for learning the conventions of scholarship. Academic integrity education is integral to the learning experience at La Trobe University. The University requires its academic staff and students to observe the highest ethical standards in all aspects of academic work, and it demonstrates its commitment to these values by awarding due credit for honestly conducted scholarly work, and by penalising academic misconduct and all forms of cheating”. (La Trobe University Academic Integrity – Procedures and Responsibilities, 2015).

The penalty for contract cheating (submitting an assignment that you paid someone else to do) may be as severe as “exclusion from the University without readmission”. Refer to the Academic Integrity - Schedule of Responses and Penalties for Academic Misconduct at https://www.latrobe.edu.au/data/assets/pdf_file/0006/847923/Academic-Integrity-Schedule-ofResponses.pdf.

You should familiarise yourself with the Academic Integrity website at <http://www.latrobe.edu.au/students/academic-integrity>, and complete the Academic Integrity Module (AIM) in your LMS.

If you have any questions, ask your Subject or Course Coordinator.

STUDENT FEEDBACK ON SUBJECT SURVEY

The Student Feedback on Subjects (SFS) Survey is one of the quality assurances processes that occur across the University. In this survey, you can tell us about your learning experiences in this subject. We value your feedback.

Your views are taken seriously and assist us to improve the learning experience for future students. The surveys are anonymous and will be available prior to the end of the teaching period. Feedback from previous students who completed this subject is available in the LMS site for this subject.

For more information, go to Student Feedback on Subject and Teaching at <http://www.latrobe.edu.au/students/leadership-volunteering/speak-up/subjects-teaching>

CHARTER OF STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

As a La Trobe coursework student, you have several rights and responsibilities. La Trobe statutes and regulations, as well as policies and procedures govern your rights and responsibilities. La Trobe University aspires to provide an outstanding student experience conducive to scholarly activity and supportive of your learning goals.

The Charter of Student Rights and Responsibilities is a brief summary of your rights and responsibilities as a student at La Trobe. The Charter was developed in consultation with La Trobe students. A copy of the Student Rights and Responsibilities can be found at <https://policies.latrobe.edu.au/document/view.php?id=225>.

STUDENT COMPLAINTS

La Trobe University is committed to an effective complaint handling mechanism for students in line with its policy of creating a harmonious and productive study environment. Feedback stemming from student complaints is a valuable source of information that helps the University improve the quality of its service.

For more information on the student complaint process and how to lodge a complaint, visit the Complaints and Feedback page at <https://www.latrobe.edu.au/students/support/complaints>.
